

SheMogul Media Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy describes how SheMogul Media d/b/a 95.7 KVPM Radio Precious SheMogul Media (“SheMogul Media” or “we” or “our” or “us”) treats certain information collected or provided in connection with an end user’s (“you” or “your” or “user”) use of SheMogul Media’s website, www.radioprecious957.com, and any other website, social media pages, apps, or other digital medium owned or operated by SheMogul Media (collectively, the “Site”). This Privacy Policy also applies to any Personal Information (defined below) collected, stored, or used by us, such as information you provide us through the above media, by email, mail, or telephonic communications in connection with our Site and any and all products or services provided to you by SheMogul Media (“Services”).

The information provided in this Privacy Policy is designed to inform you of what information we collect, why we collect such information, how we use the information we collect, and the choices we offer, including how to access and update information. By accessing or using our Site, you acknowledge and consent to the Terms and Conditions and this Privacy Policy, including our collection, use, and disclosure of your Personal Information, as described below. This Privacy Policy is not a contract and does not create any legal rights.

Please read this Privacy Policy carefully.

Our Collection and Use of Personal Information

“Personal Information” is any information that can be used to identify you. This Privacy Policy does not cover data we, or our authorized third-party vendors or partners, collect that cannot be used to identify an individual, or to pseudonymous data.

We get most Personal Information directly from you, through the Site, or from transactions with you in connection with our Services. We might also obtain Personal Information about you from other Site users or other entities with whom we have contact. For example, we may obtain Personal Information through public records, or transactions you have with our authorized third-party vendors or partners. If you are sharing information with us about any other individual, you must obtain their consent.

The categories of Personal Information we may collect from you include:

- Your name.
- Your preferred method of contact information, including your phone number, email address and mailing address.
- Payment card number (or other payment method) and related validation information.
- Information you provide when interacting with the Site, including purchase history, transaction data, and communications (including email or direct messages “DM”).
- Website analytics information, including when, how often, and for how long you use the Site; information related to your geographic location; the content you submit and view; the name of the domain and host from which you access the Internet; and the IP address of the computer or device you are using.
- Other identifiable information about you, such as government issued IDs.

We collect Personal Information to help identify you; to perform contractual obligations, including our Services and/or processing and fulfillment of orders; to communicate with you; to properly administer our Site and to maintain records; to research and analyze the use of our Site and Services so we can improve our Services; to detect and prevent fraud; to exercise and defend legal claims; to comply with legal obligations; and for other purposes as described in this Privacy Policy.

We may also collect and maintain Personal Information about you to create a personal profile containing preferences and other information that you voluntarily provide to us. Examples of the types of information we may collect for this purpose include your first and last name, a valid email address, and geographic location or address. Additionally, we may use your email address to send confirmation of transactions and, if necessary, to contact you to help process a transaction. We may also use your email address to notify you about special offers, promotions, upcoming events, or matters may be of interest to you.

You can choose to not provide certain information to us but it may delay or prevent us from providing our Services to you, including your ability to fully access our Site, participate in our Services, receive our newsletters, or similar features.

We may also automatically receive and store certain types of Personal Information whenever you visit the Site, such as information from Google Analytics (see <https://policies.google.com/privacy>) on when, how often, and for how long you use the Site, information related to your geographic location, and the content you submit and view. This information may include the name of the domain and host from which you access the Internet and the IP address of the computer or device you are using. We may log and use your IP address to administer the Site, to help diagnose problems with our server, to analyze trends, to track users' webpage movements, to help identify you and/or verify your use, and to gather broad demographic information for aggregate use. We may use standard tools, such as cookies or web beacons, to monitor the Site and Internet usage and to improve or customize the content on the Site. You should be able to control the use of cookies with respect to your own devices by changing your own browser settings.

Our web servers may collect log data, which provides aggregate information about the number of visits to different pages on the Site. We use such aggregate log data to improve access to the Site based on visitors' web browsers and operating system types to make the Site available to as many users as possible. We do not link the log data collected to Personal Information. Third party providers may also collect aggregate log data independently from us.

We do not currently respond to Do Not Track or Global Privacy Control browser settings because a uniform technological standard has not yet been developed, and we do not have control over other sites' use or acceptance of Do Not Track browser settings or the Global Privacy Control signal. We reserve the right to update our practices and Privacy Policy as such standards evolve.

Our Usage of Cookies

What are cookies?

Cookies are small data files stored on your browser or device, which can be in the form of session cookies (which expire once you close your web browser) or persistent cookies (which stay on your browser for a set period of time or until you delete them). They generally contain information such as website preferences, user settings, and browsing history. This information helps us recognize you as you interact with or revisit our Services.

Cookies may be served by the entity that operates the website you are visiting ("first-party cookies") or by other companies ("third-party cookies"). We integrate third-party analytics cookies, like Google Analytics, onto our websites to help us understand how you are using our websites so that we can improve them.

We also use other technologies that function similarly to cookies. For instance, we use web beacons (also called pixels), which are small images on a web page or in an email. Web beacons collect information about your browser or device and can set cookies. In addition, we use local storage, which allows data to be stored locally on your browser or device.

How do we use cookies?

We use cookies for a number of reasons, like helping us determine the popularity of certain content, improving our Services and your experience, and to better understand your online activity. The cookies we use generally fall into one or more of the following categories:

- Essential Cookies—These cookies are strictly necessary for our Services to function properly. Some of our Services depend on these cookies and may not work properly, or at all, if they are disabled.
- Analytics Cookies—We use these cookies to better understand how you interact with our Services so that we can improve them. For example, we may use these cookies to determine if you have interacted with certain content or features. We can also use these cookies to learn more about which features are the most popular with our users and where we may need to make improvements.
- Advertising Cookies—We and our trusted advertising partners use these cookies to display advertisements, to make advertisements more relevant to visitors to our websites, and to track the efficiency of any advertising campaigns on other websites.

What are your choices concerning cookies?

You have the right to choose whether or not to accept cookies. However, since cookies can be an important part of how our Services work, if you remove or reject cookies, this could affect the availability and functionality of our Services. Here are some options to control or limit how cookies are used on our Services:

- Manage your choices here.
- You can usually manage settings to remove or reject browser cookies manually within your browser's configuration settings. To manage these settings, please follow the instructions given by your browser.
- To prevent your data from being used by Google Analytics, you can install Google's opt-out browser add-on.
